

Concept Distribution Updates Website

Concept Distribution has updated its website to include a selection of videos to help you get the very best from its range of power tools.

The new videos give an excellent introduction to the products available from the company, alongside an impressive display of their capability.

The user friendly website can now be used as a handy guide to choosing exactly which products you need, as well as featuring news, updates, press coverage and a list of stockists.

Concept's product videos have also been made available for merchants to use in store, aiding buyer's choice when purchasing or ordering.

To make the most of the new website visit www.conceptdistribution.co.uk

Ends